A product is not considered defective if general wear or tear interferes with the product's operation. This Limited Warranty is automatically voided by the use of unapproved third-party controls, power supplies, or any other manufacturer's components, or if the product is used outside of its intended applications or for any purpose or conditions for which it was designed. It is stated in the written data sheets and installation instructions of ZENIT LED.

Within the scope of this limited warranty, during the first installation of the product, the original owner must register the product purchased in the ZENIT LED limited warranty system and keep the product registration number (UKN) to be sent to his e-mail. For the replacement/repair service of a product claimed to be defective at a future date, it can apply through the ZENIT LED limited warranty tracking system with its UKN number. This application will be evaluated by ZENIT LED within 7 working days and the owner of the original product will be informed if it is found to be defective. The product, which is deemed to be defective by ZENIT LED, will be returned directly to ZENIT LED or to the place determined by ZENIT LED within 30 days, at the customer's expense. For this defect to remain valid, the product must be returned within 30 days of Zenit LED's response date. If an immediate solution is required for the alleged defective product, the customer can order the replacement product required to solve the problem immediately from ZENIT LED at their own expense.

ZENIT LED makes no other warranties, express or implied, other than those set forth in this limited warranty. This limited warranty will not be liable for any incidental or consequential loss or damage that may arise from the performance of the product or in any way.

ZENIT LED reserves the right to change the text of this limited warranty agreement without notice.
